

Autorenhinweis

All those interested in ritual studies, especially scholars in religious studies, theologians, liturgists, anthropologists and other social scientists, and all those with a professional interest in public worship including religious professionals and students in theology and religious studies.