

Contents

1. Introduction	1
1.1 Research question	6
1.2 Objectives of the research	13
1.3 Contents of the volume	16
2. Socio-cultural context of the forums	19
2.1 Introduction	19
2.2 Social networks and communication in online discussion forums	19
2.3 The participants in online discussion forums (active participants, passive participants, distribution of rights, motivation of participants, and the goals of participants	30
2.4 The principles and rules of communication in online discussion forums dedicated to the study of arms and armor ..	36
2.5 The background of the keris controversy and the nationalism controversy	45
2.6 Summary	52
3. Conflicts and controversies in theory and practice	54
3.1 Introduction	54
3.2 Human conflict and polemical discourse	55
3.3 Different types of polemical discourse: discussion, dispute, and controversy	62
3.4 The ideal controversy: a model by Leibnitz	71
3.5 The characteristics of controversies in practice	81
3.6 The role of emotions in public controversies	95
3.7 Summary	103

4. The République des Lettres and Pamphlets.....	105
4.1 Introduction.....	105
4.2 The members of the République des Lettres and their attitudes.....	106
4.3 Pamphlets in the République des Lettres	111
4.4 Summary	118
5. Communication principles from Early Modern Controversies to Electronic communication	119
5.1 Introduction.....	119
5.2 Controversies as language games ruled by principles	121
5.3 Classification of communication principles.....	123
5.4 The changing nature of communication principles over time.	137
5.5 Summary	143
6. Individual moves and strategies: from the République des Lettres to online discussion forums.....	145
6.1 Introduction.....	145
6.2 Moves and strategies used in the scientific controversy between Kepler, Röslin, and Feselius in the 16th century ...	147
6.3 Moves and strategies used in the religious controversy between representatives of Protestant Orthodoxy and the Pietists and a comparison to online controversies.....	155
6.4 Moves with characteristic rhetoric of individuality in 17th century controversies compared to moves in online controversies	162
6.5 Moves and strategies used in a religious pamphlet war between Protestants and Jesuits in comparison to moves and strategies used in controversies in online discussion forums	169
6.6 Using accusations as special moves in Early Modern Controversies and their equivalents in controversies in online discussion forums	175
6.7 Summary	180

7. Individual moves and strategies in online discussion forums.....	181
7.1 Introduction.....	181
7.2 Global structure of controversies in online discussion forums	182
7.3 Opening moves	185
7.3.1 Accusations as an opening move	186
7.3.2 Justifying one's entry into a controversy	191
7.4 Attacking moves	192
7.4.1 Supporting the criticism of thread initiator	192
7.4.2 Agreement with friend/friends to support own argument	194
7.4.3 Accusations of not having enough knowledge about a subject	195
7.4.4 Insulting	195
7.4.5 Accusation of making a naked assertion (nudae assertiones).....	196
7.5 Defending moves.....	196
7.5.1 Defending the author of the article	197
7.5.2 Refutation with reference to the accepted experts And authority	198
7.4.3 Accusations of not having enough knowledge about a subject	195
7.6 Counterattacks	198
7.6.1 Retorting and correcting the statements of the opponent by providing examples.....	198
7.6.2 Using the partial point-by-point method to counterattack.....	200
7.6.3 Accusations of misrepresentation	204
7.6.4 Apologizing as an answer to the accusation	205
7.7 Deflecting moves.....	205
7.7.1 Claiming incomprehension and misunderstanding of the article by the opponent.....	206
7.7.2 Stressing that one is not interested in getting involved in a controversy.....	206
7.7.3 Giving interpretation of one's own words	207

7.7.4 Using repetition	207
7.8 Accusation moves related to violations of principles of communication.....	208
7.8.1 Accusation of the violation of the principle of being warm and friendly.....	209
7.8.2 Accusation of the violation of the principle of who carries the burden of proof.....	209
7.8.3 Accusation of the violation of the principle of not making personal attacks	213
7.8.4 Accusation of the violation of the principle of not solely relying on arguments from authority	213
7.9 Neutral moves.....	215
7.10 Using rhetorical and direct questions in controversies	216
7.10.1 Using rhetorical questions to support one's own position or a supporter's position.....	221
7.10.2 Using rhetorical questions to attack the opponent	222
7.10.3 Using direct questions to seek information.....	224
7.10.4 Using direct questions to challenge the opponent's statements	225
7.10.5 Using direct questions to divert attention	224
7.11 Summary.....	227
8. Stylistic choices in controversies	229
8.1 Introduction.....	229
8.2 Style markers in online controversies as written dialogue: audience interaction and addressing other participants.....	233
8.2.1 The dimension of medium: the usage of vocatives and signature lines	236
8.2.2 The usage of the pronoun we to address group identity	243
8.2.3 Different functions of the pronoun I	249
8.2.4 Different functions of the pronoun you	253
8.2.5 Discourse markers.....	255
8.3 Lexical choices	260

8.3.1 The usage of jargon and technical terms.....	262
8.3.2 Person-related terms	264
8.3.3 Polemical terms and phrases towards theories, arguments, and ideas of the other group	265
8.4 Emoticons	267
8.4.1 Emoticons used for their intended purpose or in a neutral way	273
8.4.2 Emoticons used sarcastically to attack the opponent....	274
8.5 Summary	275
9. Conclusion	276
9.1 Summary	276
9.2 Future steps in terms of approach into online controversies..	281
References	285
Index	300