

Contents

Acknowledgments	page ix
Introduction: From the Universal to the Particular	xi
1. Simulation: Imagining Fictional Worlds in Faulkner and Austen	1
2. Story Development, Literary Evaluation, and the Place of Character	27
3. A Narrative Idiolect: Shakespeare’s Heroic Stories	46
4. Principles and Parameters of Storytelling: The Trajectory of Racine’s Romantic Tragedies	75
5. Argument and Metaphor in Brecht and Kafka	111
6. Emplotment: Selection, Organization, and Construal in Hamlet	138
Afterword: “If on a Winter’s Night a Narrator . . .”	161
Notes	183
Works Cited	203
Index	215