

Contents

List of contributors	v
Foreword	vi
Introduction	viii
Part one The International Baccalaureate (IB) – an introduction	1
1 A snapshot of the IB	3
2 What the IB is about	45
3 An international perspective	53
4 The IB programmes – an overview	72
5 The IB community	100
6 The IB and ICT	121
Part two Becoming an IB World School	135
7 The DP, MYP and PYP application processes	137
8 The DP authorization phases in detail	145
9 Next steps	160
10 Planning, approaches and resources	176
11 Policies, action and advice	191
Part three The IB diploma – in more detail	205
12 The DP hexagon and framework	207
13 DP assessment	238
14 Academic honesty	266
15 Theory of knowledge (TOK)	274
16 The extended essay (EE)	294
17 Creativity, action, service (CAS)	305
18 Group 1 – Studies in language and literature	325
19 Group 2 – Language acquisition	346
20 Group 3 – Individuals and societies	358
21 Group 4 – The experimental sciences	391
22 Group 5 – Mathematics	417
23 Group 6 – The arts	428
24 Other DP subjects	445
Part four Recognition of the DP	455
25 What universities say	457
26 What employers say	484
27 What students and teachers say	491

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-60628-9 – Introducing the IB Diploma Programme
General Editor Marc Abrioux and Jill Rutherford
Table of Contents
More information

Part five What next? How you can continue on the DP journey	511
28 The future of the DP	513
29 Training teachers and professional development	524
30 What next in your school?	530
31 DP evaluation	545
32 Burning questions and conclusions	550
Bibliography	558
Glossary	562
Index	571
Acknowledgements	578