

Contents

Preface	page ix
List of abbreviations	xii
1 Life and work	1
2 A just society	16
The aims of Rawls	16
A theory of social justice	25
Justification in A Theory of Justice	27
Reflective equilibrium and justice as fairness	33
Justice as fairness or utilitarianism?	38
The difference principle or the maximin criterion?	42
The principles of justice and primary goods	46
Primary goods or basic capabilities?	57
Primary goods or equal opportunity of welfare?	62
The difference principle and reciprocity	68
The difference principle and “just” inequalities	74
Designing a just basic structure: the four-stage sequence	80
Designing just legislation	86
Political and market processes compared	91
Fair background institutions and market arrangements	93
3 Pluralism and justice	99
The aim of Rawls	99
Political liberalism and citizenship	102
Justification in Political Liberalism	105
The idea of public reason and the criterion of reciprocity	111
Constitutional essentials and matters of basic justice	116
Reflective equilibrium and political liberalism	121
Overlapping consensus, well-ordered society, and stability	126
Overlapping consensus on justice as fairness ?	130
Justification, reciprocity, and moral motivation	137
The ideal of public reason, political liberties, and deliberative democracy	145
	vii

viii	Contents
	Fair value of political liberties and access to the political process 147
	Political liberalism , “neutrality,” and respect 154
	Equal basic liberties: regulation or restriction? 156
	Political toleration and religion 158
	Political liberalism and Enlightenment liberalism 162
	From A Theory of Justice to Political Liberalism 167
4	International justice 173
	The aim of Rawls 173
	Justice among Peoples 175
	Justification in The Law of Peoples 179
	Decent hierarchical peoples and the Law of Peoples 186
	Kazanistan: a decent hierarchical people 190
	Territorial boundaries and responsibility 194
	Territorial boundaries and social cooperation 196
	Duty of assistance 199
	Cosmopolitanism and The Law of Peoples 204
5	Justice as Fairness in practice 209
	Justice as fairness on the political spectrum 209
	Justice as fairness : implications for public policy 212
	Just income distribution 213
	Between fate and freedom of choice: personal responsibility 220
	The difference principle and the problem of envy 226
	Justice as fairness and the welfare state 229
	The social bases of self-respect 234
	An evaluation 237
6	Justice as Fairness : a realistic utopia 239
	Notes 246
	Works by John Rawls: a selection 276
	Further reading 278
	Index 280