

WARSAW STUDIES IN PHILOSOPHY AND SOCIAL SCIENCES 1

Paweł Skuczyński

The Status of Legal Ethics

PETER LANG
EDITION

Table of contents

Introduction.....	9
-------------------	---

Chapter 1

Traditions and transformations of legal ethics	17
1.1. Preliminary remarks.....	17
1.2. The beginnings of legal ethics	19
1.3. Traditions of legal ethics	24
1.3.1. The French tradition	24
1.3.2. The American tradition	27
1.3.3. The German tradition	30
1.4. Transformations of legal ethics	34
1.4.1. Juridisation	34
1.4.1.1. Codification	34
1.4.1.2. Legalisation	39
1.4.2. Professionalisation	47
1.4.2.1. Profession's criteria.....	47
1.4.2.2. Profession's mission	55
1.4.3. Globalisation	66
1.4.3.1. Institutions of globalisation.....	67
1.4.3.2. Intercultural communication	74
1.4.5. Transformations of legal ethics: modernisation or Americanisation?	79
1.5. Legal ethics in Poland.....	82

Chapter 2

Conceptions of legal ethics	87
2.1. Preliminary remarks.....	87
2.2. Empirical and analytical conceptions	89
2.2.1. The lawyer's ethos and its forms	89
2.2.2. The myth of legal ethics	92

2.2.3. Legal ethics as ideology	95
2.2.4. Professional deontology	98
2.3. Normative and critical conceptions	101
2.3.1. Applied ethics.....	101
2.3.2. The situational ethics of a lawyer.....	106
2.3.3. Critical professional ethics	111

Chapter 3

Multi-dimensional theory of legal ethics.....	119
3.1. Preliminary remarks.....	119
3.2. Validation crisis in ethics.....	121
3.2.1. Two views of ethics	121
3.2.2. Practical rationality and the tradition	124
3.3. Three planes of ethical theory.....	132
3.3.1. The scope of the planes of ethical theory	132
3.3.2. Pragmaticality	134
3.3.3. Ethicality	135
3.3.4. Morality.....	138
3.4. The problem of universalisation of professional deontology standards	142
3.4.1. Universalisation and generalisation in ethics.....	142
3.4.2. 'Little' universalisation in deontology	148
3.5. Legal ethics in social structure	150
3.5.1 Professional roles of lawyers	150
3.5.2. Protecting and building trust	159
3.5.3. The problem of good life and integrity	164
3.6. Professional virtues and professional responsibility.....	171
3.6.1. The good of practice as the object of virtue	171
3.6.2. The good of practice as the object of responsibility	176
3.7. Conclusions: multi-dimensional theory of legal ethics and methodology	189

Chapter 4

Legal ethics and some theoretical models of law	193
4.1. Preliminary remarks.....	193
4.2. Paradigms of law and its theoretical models	194

4.3. Legal ethics and the positivist model.....	201
4.3.1. Legal ethics of classical legal positivism.....	201
4.3.2. Legal ethics and theses of modern positivism.....	203
4.3.2.1. The social thesis	203
4.3.2.2. The separability thesis	211
4.4. Legal ethics and the juriscentric model	217
4.4.1. Legal ethics and the theory of law as integrity	217
4.4.2. Legal ethics in institutional reality	221
4.5. Legal ethics and the discursive model	225
4.5.1. Topical-rhetorical conceptions	225
4.5.1.1. Exemplary character of legal discourse.....	225
4.5.1.2. Legal ethics as the limit of argumentation	230
4.5.2. Procedural conceptions	233
4.5.2.1. Special character of legal discourse	233
4.5.2.2. Legal ethics as a condition of argumentation	240
4.6. Conclusion: morality of law and morality of lawyers	245
Chapter 5
Legal ethics among legal sciences	247
5.1. Research program of legal ethics.....	247
5.2. Interdisciplinarity of legal ethics	253
Conclusion	255
Works Cited	259