

Eastern and Central European Studies IV

IOAN-AUREL POP

"De manibus Valachorum scismaticorum..."

Romanians and Power in the Mediaeval
Kingdom of Hungary
The Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries

PETER LANG
EDITION

Content

Introduction .....	11
1. How could the mechanism of power in the Middle Ages be understood .....	19
2. An explanation: why the Romanians and their country (countries) have two names .....	27
3. Between grandeur and decadence: Hungary during the last Árpáadian century and the new Angevin century .....	41
4. The others and power: ethnicities and religions in mediaeval Hungary and Transylvania (Up until the fourteenth century) .....	57
4.1. Preliminaries .....	57
4.2. How many Hungarians were there around the year 900 and what were they like? .....	60
4.3. The written tradition on the ethnic composition of Pannonia and Transylvania during the pre-Magyar period. The Romanians .....	62
4.4. The Romanians as they appear in the sources up until the fourteenth century .....	66
4.5. New population groups coming to Hungary during the Árpáadian period (the twelfth-thirteenth centuries) .....	68
4.6. A general overview of the ethnic groups in Hungary between the ninth and the fourteenth centuries .....	72
4.7. “Christians”, “schismatics”, Jews, Muslims and other “pagans”: confessions in Hungary until the beginning of the fourteenth century .....	73
4.8. “How faithful and grateful to the Lord he was”: Louis I’s religious policy and its outcomes .....	80
4.9. Conclusions .....	83
5. “Masters of our own land for a thousand years”: The ancientness of the Romanians as portrayed by the official documents .....	87

6. The Fourth Crusade (1203-1204) or the western method of eradicating the “schism” .....	103
6.1. The Holy See’s programme of rebuilding the ecclesiastical unity .....	104
6.2. The perception of the action of 1204 in the public Byzantine mentality .....	105
6.3. The policy of Innocent III (and his successors): placing the Church of the East under the aegis of the Roman Church .....	106
6.4. Why the “schism” had to be eradicated (in Innocent III’s perspective) .....	107
6.5. “The limbs of the Roman Church shall not disobey its custom”: pathways to follow and obstacles to overcome in subjecting the East .....	108
6.6. The religious policies in the Eastern regions dominated by the “Latin” crusaders .....	109
6.7. The western policy in other states of the Byzantine Commonwealth .....	110
6.8. Rome’s policy regarding the Eastern Church and population in the Kingdom of Hungary .....	112
6.9. Conclusions .....	116
7. The elite of the Romanians in and around Transylvania in the tenth-thirteenth centuries—landowners, fighters and political leaders .....	119
7.1. Romanian landowners dispossessed in the thirteenth century .....	120
7.2. Romanian militaries in the thirteenth century .....	125
7.3. Romanian political leaders in their “lands” (the thirteenth century) .....	126
7.4. Why did so many Romanians appear in the written records after 1200? .....	132
8. Transylvanian (Hungarian) feudalism or sui-generis organisation? .....	135
9. Land and power: the official landholding mechanism in the Kingdom of Hungary .....	147

10. Knezes and their status as rulers and owners in the Romanian world .....	163
10.1. Preliminary considerations .....	163
10.2. What does the form of the name knez indicate? .....	164
10.3. "In the previous centuries, a knez was an independent owner and the head of the people under his jurisdiction" .....	166
10.4. What did the knezial rule mean, according to the documents of the period? .....	168
10.5. The knezes' subjects or the commoners from the villages .....	177
10.6. The Romanians' (knezes') consciousness of masters and its manifestations .....	180
10.7. "Manly feats of loyalty": knezes as (military) fighters .....	198
10.8. "Let him be tried under the Romanian law": the knezes' judicial responsibilities .....	212
10.9. "For the forgiveness of Knez Balea's wrongs" or knezes as the patrons of the Eastern Churches .....	220
10.10. The Romanian knezes and their political organisations: the Romanian districts (lands) .....	225
11. "Within their true, right and ancient boundaries": The grounds of the Romanian knezes' and nobles' landholding rights .....	231
12. "Liberties, uses, services and duties" of the knezes and of knezial villages .....	253
13. Power deprivation: Dispossessed knezes and subdued Romanian villages .....	267
14. How the Romanians lived with the Hungarians, the Saxons and the Szeklers in the Middle Ages .....	283
14.1. Ethnic differences .....	283
14.2. The Romanians and the Szeklers .....	288
14.3. Foreign enclaves and reactions against them .....	292
14.4. Romanians, Cumans, Hungarians and Saxons .....	294
15. "Our loyal guests": The image of the outlanders or foreigners in Transylvania and Hungary .....	309

16. Outgoing Romanians, incoming Romanians, or the limits of mediaeval mobility .....	321
17. The image of the Romanian countries in the Hungarian conscious- ness and its impact on the status of the Transylvanian Romanians .....	331
17.1. "Our country across the mountains": the Hungarian political and military policy concerning the Romanian countries .....	331
17.2. The dispute over the Land of Hațeg between the Romanian voivodes and the Hungarian kings in the thirteenth century .....	337
17.3. The formation of the Great-Voivodate of Wallachia and its relations with Hungary .....	348
17.4. Basarab's "dastardly pitfall" (1330) and its Hungarian documentary echoes .....	353
17.5. The Romanians' "vicious habits": other "rebellions" and "treacheries" reflected in the collective memory .....	364
18. "As the Romanians call it, in folk parlance": The Romanian onomastics and toponymy .....	371
19. The Romanians position regarding the Western Church and the position of the Western Church regarding the Romanians .....	381
19.1. "In a country without law and order": the crisis of Western faith and of the Western Church in Hungary at the end of the thirteenth century .....	382
19.2. "More than a third of the country had been permeated by the holy custom", or the proportion of Catholics in Hungary ....	389
19.3 "The fallen and decayed state of the said Land of Hungary": the crisis from the turn of the fourteenth century .....	391
19.4. Between death and conversion: absolution from sin for the ancient "Christians" and heavy tithes for the new converts .....	396
19.5. "The great stock of Romanians": the reactions of the "schismatics" in the fourteenth century .....	405
19.6. "Broadening the right faith": successes on the path of the Romanians' conversion (up until 1366) .....	410
19.7. Emperor John V's journey to Buda (1365-1366)—an occasion for religious union or for deeper division? .....	414
19.8. New "schismatics" led onto "the path of truth"—the increase in Catholic propaganda and action after 1366 .....	421

19.9. “Crusades” against the “unruly heretics and schismatics” .....	427
20. From acceptance to exclusion: Romanians and Transylvania’s estate assemblies in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries .....	435
20.1. “To reform the state of the inhabitants”: Transylvania’s estate assembly of 1291 .....	435
20.2. “All the prelates, barons, noblemen, Szeklers, Saxons, Romanians”, gathered at Turda in 1355 .....	445
20.3. The solemn royal privilege of 1366: “against the malefactors of every nation, more precisely, the Romanians” .....	457
21. The consequences of excluding the “schismatics”, the “knezes” and the “Vlachs” from the estates in the Middle Ages .....	479
22. The End .....	491
Essential Chronology .....	497
Romanian or Romanian-origin dignitaries (office holders) in Transylvania and Hungary (13 th and 14 th centuries) .....	499
Bibliography .....	501
Sources .....	501
Historiography .....	504