

Literary and Cultural Theory

Marcin Mazurek

A Sense of Apocalypse

Technology, Textuality, Identity

PETER LANG
EDITION

Contents

Introduction

The Argument	9
--------------------	---

Chapter One

From Pre-Apocalyptic Tropes to Post-Apocalyptic Metaphors	19
1. Representing the Non-Representable	19
2. Domesticating the Threat	22
3. 9/11	25
4. Theorising the End	28
5. Science Fiction, Technology, Identity	32

Chapter Two

The Violence of Revelation	39
1. Violence	39
2. Revelation	49
3. Theory of Apocalypse vs. Apocalypse of Theory	55

Chapter Three

Technology Unbound	61
1. Technology and the Social	61
2. From the Industrial to the Postindustrial	67
3. Visions and Identities	71
4. Maps and Territories	76

Chapter Four

Textual Spaces and Spatial Textualities	83
1. The Ontology of Terminal Space	83
2. Hypertext: Poststructuralist Theory into Terminal Practice	90
3. Cityscapes and Cyber-Realms	98

Chapter Five

Identity and Its Discontents	107
1. Posthumanism Revisited: Identity on the Move	107
2. Posthumanist into Posthuman	110
3. Snow Crash : Split Presence and Translucent Bodies	115
4. Terminal Identity as the Third	123

Conclusion

Apocalypse and the Postmodern	127
-------------------------------------	-----

Bibliography	131
--------------------	-----