

Karl Herndl

Sales Coaching by Benedict

Sales Success with Clear
Structures and with Heart

Contents

Chapter 1: The Starting Point	11
Sales: an exciting challenge	11
How things stand	13
Lack of Organisation becomes a problem	15
Searching for Order and Organisation	16
The breakdown of society is reflected in sales	17
Attempted solutions that come to nothing	19
Sales success with humanity and Order	22
Order and Organisation	23
The pattern of Order	25
Chapter 2: My Own Pilgrimage	27
In the beginning there was longing	27
Withdrawal	29
A new path begins	33
On the way to becoming an expert in sales	34
Management in sales	38
The 15-minute target discussion	40
Management and sales through the power of Organisation	42
Chapter 3: Benedict of Nursia	45
Introduction	45
Phases in Benedict's life	46
Chapter 4: The Benedictine Monks	61
In the beginning there was longing	61
The Order comes into being	61
The model: Ora et labora et lege	64
The vows	64
The organisation	68
The daily routine	71
Learning from one another	73

Chapter 5: The Rule of St Benedict	75
The origins	75
The Benedictine Rules in detail	76
The spreading of the Rule of St Benedict	94
Sales Coaching by Benedict	96
Chapter 6: Order and Organisation in Sales	99
Why do we need Order and Organisation?	99
The principle	100
The person in focus	101
Entrepreneurs within a business	102
Sales structures	104
The salesperson	106
The Order of selling	107
Making an appointment	108
The sales meeting	110
The manager	117
The Order of management	119
Topics and questions in the management process	125
Team meeting	128
The Order for taking on new employees	130
Choice of employee	132
Training	137
The Order of the working week	141
The sales manager's working week	145
Incentives	150
Controlling	151
Best Practice	153
Chapter 7: At the Benedictine Headquarters	155
The approach	155
Consolidation	156
The connection	159
References	163
For use of this book – Legal notice	165
The Author	167