

Gerhard Schaefer / Ryoei Yoshioka

Thinking and the Sense of Life

A Comparative Study of Young People in Germany and Japan
Educational Consequences

意味

Contents

List of Figures and Tables .....	9
1. Preface .....	13
2. Theoretical Considerations .....	17
2.1 Sense and the meaning of life.....	17
2.2 Is “Sense of life” a matter of thinking ? .....	18
2.3 The concept of “Sense”.....	20
2.3.1 Etymology .....	20
2.3.2 Levels of “Sense” .....	21
3. Empirical Research .....	27
3.1 Test-population.....	27
3.2 Test-Design .....	29
3.2.1 Pre-remark .....	29
3.2.2 Test .....	30
3.3 Results of tasks 1 and 2: Sense of life.....	35
3.3.1. Task 1: Stepping out or not? Jumping into another role? .....	35
3.3.2 Task 2: Sense of life or not? .....	39
3.3.3 Correlation between tasks 1 and 2 .....	40
3.3.4 “No-sense Items” 2.1.1 – 2.1.13 .....	41
3.3.5 Summary of “no-sense items” .....	47
3.3.6 “Yes-sense Items” (sense-supporters) .....	49
3.4 Results of task 3: Cognitive abilities .....	55
3.4.1 Frequency of lines and selected concepts .....	55
3.4.2 Qualitative evaluation of students’ explanations .....	62
3.4.3 Quantitative evaluation .....	65
3.4.4 Summary of task 3 .....	71
3.5 Results of task 4 .....	73
3.5.1 Frequency of lines per person .....	73
3.5.2 Explanation of lines .....	75

4. Correlation between Tasks .....	89
4.1 Groups of students to be examined .....	89
4.2 Results of correlation “thinking ↔ sense” (tasks 3/4 with 1/2).....	92
4.2.1 Task 3 .....	92
4.2.2 Task 4 .....	93
4.2.3 Genders .....	95
4.2.4 Germany/Japan.....	97
4.2.5 Specific areas of task 4 .....	98
5. Postface: Educational Consequences .....	101
5.1 Empirical basis of a “sense for all” .....	101
5.1.1 Task 1 .....	101
5.1.2 Task 2 .....	102
5.1.3 Task 3 .....	103
5.1.4 Task 4 .....	104
5.1.5 Conclusions of the empirical data.....	105
5.2 Theoretical reflections on a “sense for all” .....	105
5.3 Educational Perspective .....	113
5.4 Final Conclusion .....	117
6. Literature .....	119