
DEVELOPMENT ECONOMICS AND POLICY

Series edited by Franz Heidhues, Joachim von Braun and Manfred Zeller

71

Microeconomic Impacts of Institutional Change in Vietnam's Northern Uplands

Empirical Studies on Social Capital,
Land and Credit Institutions

Camille Saint-Macary

Contents

Executive Summary	IX
List of Abbreviations	XV
List of Tables.....	XXI
List of Figures	XXIII
1 Introduction	1
1.1 General introduction	1
1.2 Conceptual framework: institutions, poverty and the environment	4
1.2.1 Linkages between poverty and the environment in agriculture	5
1.2.2 The role of institutions	7
1.2.3 The role of land institutions, financial markets and communities	7
1.3 Background information	11
1.3.1 The land reform	11
1.3.2 The rural credit policy.....	13
1.4 Specific objectives and research hypotheses	13
1.5 Outline of the thesis	16
2 Presentation of the study area and data collection	17
3 Land titling policy and soil conservation practices in the northern Uplands of Vietnam	23
3.1 Introduction.....	23
3.2 Land reform and implementation in the NMR	26
3.3 The research area	27
3.4 Sampling and data collection	28
3.5 Estimation strategy	29
3.5.1 The household-level model	29
3.5.2 The plot-level model	34
3.6 Results and discussion	35
3.6.1 Land allocation in Yen Chau district	35
3.6.2 Knowledge and adoption of soil conservation technologies.....	37

3.6.3	Determinants of knowledge and adoption of soil conservation – the household-level model	39
3.6.4	Determinants of adoption of soil conservation – the plot-level model	42
3.7	Conclusion	45
3.8	Appendix: Endogeneity of the land title variable: a test based on Instrumental Variable method	47
4	Has the reform permitted the emergence of a land market?	51
4.1	Introduction: efficiency and equity effects of land markets	51
4.2	Land titling and the land market in Vietnam	52
4.3	Land transactions in Yen Chau	52
4.4	Distributional effect of the land market	55
4.5	Conclusion	58
5	Rural Credit Policy in the Mountains of Northern Vietnam: Sustainability, Outreach and Impact	61
5.1	Introduction	61
5.2	The data	65
5.3	The credit market in Yen Chau	67
5.3.1	Contract terms	68
5.3.2	Wealth and participation in the credit market	70
5.4	Formal lending in Yen Chau	74
5.4.1	Lending procedure	74
5.4.2	Demand and participation in the formal sector	77
5.4.3	Is there an interaction between the formal and informal sectors?	86
5.5	Impact of the government micro-credit program on welfare	90
5.5.1	The propensity score matching approach	90
5.5.2	Estimation of the propensity score and matching algorithms	92
5.5.3	Impact estimation	93
5.6	Discussion and policy recommendations	96
5.7	Conclusion	99
5.8	Appendix	101
6	Ethnic heterogeneity and the formation of social capital in rural communities of Northern Vietnam	105
6.1	Introduction	105
6.2	Ethnic heterogeneity and social capital, a review	108

6.2.1 Defining social capital.....	108
6.2.2 Ethnic heterogeneity and public goods	110
6.2.3 Identity and social network formation	111
6.3 The data	112
6.3.1 The settings	112
6.3.2 The survey.....	114
6.3.3 Descriptive statistics	115
6.4 Empirical strategy	119
6.4.1 The participation model	119
6.4.2 The social network capital model	121
6.5 Results.....	124
6.5.1 The determinants of participation	124
6.5.2 The determinants of households' social network capital	128
6.6 Conclusion	131
6.7 Appendix.....	134
7 Discussion and conclusions.....	137
7.1 Discussion of research findings and policy implications.....	138
7.2 Orientation for further research	143
Bibliography	147