

Pao-Shen Ho

Plotinus' Mystical Teaching of Henosis

An Interpretation in the Light of the Metaphysics of the One

PETER LANG
EDITION

Contents

Acknowledgment	XI
----------------------	----

Notes on Reference and Translations.....	XIII
--	------

Abbreviations.....	XV
--------------------	----

Introduction	1
--------------------	---

Section 1 The Historical Reception of Plotinus' Thought	1
1.1 The Extent of Plotinus' Influence	1
1.2 The Role of Proclus in the Reception of Neoplatonism	4
Section 2 The Scholarly Approaches to Mysticism	6
2.1 The Theological Approach to Mysticism.....	7
2.2 The Psychological and Comparative Approach to Mysticism.....	8
2.3 The Philosophical Approach to Mysticism	13
2.4 Reflections on the Approaches to the Study of Mysticism	17
Section 3 Subject, Method and Structure of the Present Study	19

Chapter 1 Plotinus' Metaphysics of the One	29
--	----

Section 1 The Standard Account	29
Section 2 The Radical Transcendence of the One	33
2.1 "The One" as Oneness.....	34
2.2 "The One" as Simplicity	35
2.3 "The One" as the Illocutionary Self-Denial	40
Section 3 The Radical Immanence of the One	44
Chapter Summary	56

Chapter 2 The Practice of Philosophy	57
--	----

Section 1 Different Desires and the Desire for Knowledge	57
1.1 Toward an Interpretation of the Diversity of Desire.....	58
1.2 The Hierarchy Account of the Relation among Desires	59

1.3 The Reflexive Account of the Relation among Desires	61
1.4 Contentment and Contemplation	64
1.5 Section Summary	71
Section 2 The Constitutive Role of Desire for Knowledge in the Practice of Philosophy	72
2.1 The Origin of Philosophical Inquiry.....	72
2.2 The Object of Philosophical Inquiry.....	76
2.3 The Method of Philosophical Inquiry.....	78
2.4 The End of Philosophical Inquiry	80
2.5 Section Summary	87
Chapter Summary	87

Chapter 3 The Practice of Negative Theology.....89

Section 1 Dionysius' Negative Theology of Unknowing.....	90
Section 2 Plotinus' Negative Theology according to VI.7.36.....	94
2.1 VI.7.36.3–5 Introduction.....	95
2.2 VI.7.36.5–8 the Indirect Study	96
2.3 VI.7.36.8–15 the Direct Vision	98
2.4 VI.7.36.15–21 the Abandonment of Contemplation	101
2.5 Section Summary	103
Section 3 Plotinus' Negative Theology of Abandonment	104
3.1 The Doctrine of Two Intellects in VI.7.35.19–33	104
3.2 The Explanation of the “Dissolution” of the Intellect in VI.7.41.12–14	108
3.3 The Transition from the “Dissolution” of the Intellect to Henosis: V.3.17	110
Chapter Summary	118

Chapter 4 The Relation between Negative Theology and Henosis..... 121

Section 1 The One's Mystical Presence	124
1.1 The Metaphysical Presence of the One	124
1.2 The One's Mystical Presence in Man's Innate Desire	127
1.3 The Coherence between Metaphysical and Mystical Presence	134
Section 2 The Role of Negative Theology	135
2.1 The Consistency between the One's Presence in Man and Man's Fall from the One.....	135

2.2 The Consistency between the One's Presence in Man and the Role of Negative Theology	138
2.3 Section Summary	141
Section 3 Plotinus on the Mystical Vision	144
3.1 The Mystical Vision in I.6.8.21–27	144
3.2 The Visual Illustration of Henosis in VI.9.8.13–22.....	151
3.3 An Interpretation of the Circle-Illustration	156
 Concluding Remarks	 161
 References	 165