

WARSAW STUDIES IN CONTEMPORARY HISTORY 2

Zofia Wóycicka

Arrested Mourning

Memory of the Nazi Camps in Poland,
1944-1950

PETER LANG
EDITION

Contents

List of Abbreviations.....	7
Introduction.....	9

PART I. PEOPLE..... 17

Chapter 1

Former Prisoners: “Finest Sons of the Fatherland” or “Hapless Victims of the Camps”?.....	19
Repatriation and Assistance.....	21
Former Prisoners Organise Themselves	35
Politicisation of the PZbWP	43
The Struggle against “Victimhood”.....	57

Chapter 2

Our “Jewish Comrades”? Who Belongs to the Community of Victims?	71
Anti-Semitism	75
Isolation	79
Jews in the PZbWP.....	86
“A Separate Death”?.....	91
“Heroes of the Ghetto” or Passive Victims?.....	108
Other Groups of Victims	113

Chapter 3

At the “Limit of a Certain Morality”: Polish Debates on the Conduct of Concentration Camp Prisoners	117
War Crimes Trials in Poland, 1944-1950	119
Controversies Surrounding the Trials of Prisoner Functionaries	128
Beyond the Courtroom	143
Defending the Image of the Political Prisoner	151

PART II. PLACES..... 163

Chapter 4

Sites of Memory, Sites of Forgetting	165
Majdanek and Auschwitz: Vying for “Pre-eminence”.....	165
“The Death of Birkenau”.....	176
In the Background: Stutthof and Gross-Rosen.....	181
Forgotten Places: Chełmno, Belżec, Treblinka, Sobibór.....	188

Chapter 5

Disputes over the Method of Commemorating the Sites of Former
Concentration Camps.....	193
“Evidence of Crimes” or “A Collection of Curiosities”?	193
Cemeteries or “Battlefields”?	204
“Jewish Cemeteries” or “Places of Martyrdom of the Polish Nation and of Other Nations”?	214

Chapter 6

A Christian Monument to Jewish Martyrdom? An Unrealised Project from 1947 to Commemorate the Site of the Former Death Camp
at Treblinka	233
The “Polish Klondike”: Genesis of the Project	233
Iconography of the Memorial.....	244
Epilogue: Auschwitz—“A Tacky Stall of Cheap Anti-imperialist
Propaganda”	259
Conclusion	271
Bibliography	277
A. Sources	277
B. Studies.....	285
Index	305