

Rita Oghia-Codsi

'The Return of the Repressed'

Uncovering Family Secrets in Zola's Fiction:
An Interpretation of Selected Novels

FRENCHSTUDIES

of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries

Peter Lang

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Abbreviations	ix
CHAPTER 1
The Function of the Unconscious in the Selected Novels of Emile Zola	I
CHAPTER 2
The Death-Drive and the Return of the Repressed in La Fortune des Rougon, Thérèse Raquin and Madeleine Féral	47
CHAPTER 3
The Function of Dreams in La Faute de l'Abbé Mouret and La Bête humaine	97
CHAPTER 4
Prostitution and Nineteenth-Century 'Female Discourse' in La Curée and Nana	151
CHAPTER 5
The Connection between Gestation and Heredity in Le Docteur Pascal , or the Secret Exposed	225

CHAPTER 6

The Nature of Truth in Vérité	255
--------------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER 7

Conclusion of Arguments Presented on Zola's Language	291
--	-----

Bibliography	303
--------------	-----

Index	319
-------	-----