

Cambridge University Press 978-0-521-10794-5 - Perception: A Representative Theory Frank Jackson Table of Contents More information

Contents

	Introduction	1
I	The distinction between mediate and immediate objects of perception	6
2	Three uses of 'looks'	30
3	The existence of mental objects	50
4	The case for sense-data	88
5	Colour and science	I 20
6	The objections to representationalism	138
7	Seeing things and seeing that	154
	Bibliography	173
	Index	170