

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	page ix
List of abbreviations	xi
Map of Europe on the eve of the Thirty Years' War	xiii
Introduction	1
Prologue "The evill time," 1622–1623	6
Carolus redux	6
The Spanish match and the Palatinate	12
The arcana imperii and the Paul's walkers	20
Awaiting the bride, 1623	36
Englishmen and Spaniards	50
 PART I THE COURT, OCTOBER 1623–FEBRUARY 1624	 55
1 "A sharp edge"; the rationale and strategy of a Spanish war	57
The press for war	58
Conway's three-year plan	69
2 "The English match": the organization of the "Patriot"
coalition	77
The duke's creatures	78
The appeal of the "Patriots"	83
Aristocratic recruits	100
3 "The clock doth now stand": the frustrated campaign
against Spain	106
The collapse of negotiations	107
The opening to the Dutch	114
The foundation of a French match	121
Revolt of the grandees	127
Conclusion	132

viii	Contents
PART II WESTMINSTER, FEBRUARY–MAY 1624		135
4	“A wise ordering of our affayres”: Parliament and the “Patriots”	137
	Parliamentary expectations	138
	A coalition anatomized	145
	Pembroke and the tribunes	154
5	“That mutual and unhappie jealousy”: exultation and despair in the opening weeks of the session	166
	Striking the keynote	166
	Religion and Spain: the first debate, 1–2 March	174
	The emergence of the old King	181
	Making good their advice: the second debate, 11–12 March	188
6	“The high crisis of this most important business”: Parliament and the war, 12–24 March	197
	Prelude to confrontation	197
	The particulars of the war: the third debate, 19–20 March	203
	Analysis	218
7	“Other circles”: redress of grievances and supply, April–May	227
	Mansfelt and religion	228
	The Dutch treaty	250
	Parliamentary impotence reconsidered	260
PART III THE SUMMER OF 1624		263
8	“The revolt of the mice against the cats”: reactions to the impending conflict	265
	A season of contentment	267
	Opening the Temple of Janus	281
	“Checkmate by discovery”	302
	Conclusion	309
	Note on sources	323
	Bibliography	326
	Index	341