

CONTENTS

Contributors	page vii
Introduction	1
Fabrizio Butera and John M. Levine

PART 1. COPING WITH EXCLUSION:
BEING EXCLUDED FOR WHO YOU ARE

1 On being the target of prejudice: Educational implications	13
Michael Inzlicht, Joshua Aronson, and Rodolfo Mendoza-Denton
2 “To climb or not to climb?” When minorities stick to the floor	38
Margarita Sanchez-Mazas and Annalisa Casini
3 Managing the message: Using social influence and attitude change strategies to confront interpersonal discrimination	55
Janet K. Swim, Sarah J. Gervais, Nicholas Pearson, and Charles Stangor
4 A new representation of minorities as victims	82
Serge Moscovici and Juan A. Pérez
5 Marginalization through social ostracism: Effects of being ignored and excluded	104
Kipling D. Williams and Adrienne R. Carter-Sowell

vi	Contents
PART 2. COPING WITH EXCLUSION: BEING EXCLUDED FOR WHAT YOU THINK AND DO
6	Delinquents as a minority group: Accidental tourists in forbidden territory or voluntary emigrées? 125 Nicholas Emler
7	Minority-group identification: Responses to discrimination when group membership is controllable 155 Jolanda Jetten and Nyla R. Branscombe
8	Coping with stigmatization: Smokers' reactions to antismoking campaigns 177 Juan Manuel Falomir-Pichastor, Armand Chatard, Gabriel Mugny, and Alain Quiamzade
9	Terrorism as a tactic of minority influence 202 Xiaoyan Chen and Arie W. Kruglanski
10	The stigma of racist activism 222 Kathleen M. Blee
11	Why groups fall apart: A social psychological model of the schismatic process 243 Fabio Sani
PART 3. COPING WITH INCLUSION
12	Multiple identities and the paradox of social inclusion 269 Manuela Barreto and Naomi Ellemers
13	Prominority policies and cultural change: A dilemma for minorities 293 Angelica Mucchi-Faina
14	Influence without credit: How successful minorities respond to social cryptomnesia 311 Fabrizio Butera, John M. Levine, and Jean-Pierre Vernet
15	Influence and its aftermath: Motives for agreement among minorities and majorities 333 Radmila Prislin and P. Niels Christensen
	Index 355