

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

1786—1802.

Notices of the Buxton family. — Mr. Buxton of Earl's Colne. — Birth of Thomas Fowell Buxton. — Childhood. — School days.
 — His mother's influence. — Abraham Plaistow. — Bellfield. —
 Earlham. — Letters from Earlham - - - Pages 1—13

CHAPTER II.

1802—1807.

Education in Ireland. — Donnybrook. — Emmett's rebellion. —
 Dublin University. — Correspondence. — Engagement to Miss
 H. Gurney. — Historical Society. — Escape from shipwreck. — Correspondence. — Success at College. — Invitation to represent the University in Parliament. — His marriage - - - 14—29

CHAPTER III.

1807—1812.

Enters Truman's Brewery. — Occupations in London. — Letter from Mr. Twiss. — Correspondence. — Death of Edward Buxton.
 — Exertions in the Brewery - - - - 30—41

CHAPTER IV.

1812—1816.

First speech in public. — The Rev. Josiah Pratt. — Increasing regard to religion. — Dangerous illness. — Its effect on his mind.
 — Settles at Hampstead. — Disappointments and anxieties. —
 Reflections. — Narrow escape. — Letter to Mr. J. J. Gurney
 42—56

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

x

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER V.

1816, 1817.

Adventure with a mad dog. — Distress in Spitalfields. — Mr. Buxton's speech. — Letters. — Establishment of the Prison Discipline Society. — Death of Charles Buxton. — Journey on the Continent. — Letters. — Incident at the Brewery. — Book on Prison Discipline - - - - Pages 57—75

CHAPTER VI.

1818, 1819.

Election, 1818. — Letter from Mr. J. J. Gurney. — Thoughts on entering Parliament. — Debate on the Peterloo riot. — Burdett. — Canning. — Plunkett. — Brougham. — Wilberforce. — Letter to Mr. Charles Buxton of Bellfield. — First speech, on Criminal Law. — Committees on Criminal Law and Prison Discipline. — Letters - - - - - 76—92

CHAPTER VII.

1820, 1821.

Election. — Domestic afflictions. — Letters. — Cromer Hall. — Priscilla Gurney. — Correspondence. — Speech on Criminal Law - - - - - 93—116

CHAPTER VIII.

1821—1823.

Chosen by Mr. Wilberforce as his successor in the slavery cause. — Common confusion of "Slavery" with "Slave Trade." — Previous impressions on Mr. Buxton's mind. — Priscilla Gurney's dying words. — He studies the subject. — Long deliberations. — Fear of servile revolt. — Undertakes to advocate the question. — Letters from Mr. Wilberforce. — Reflections. — Suttee. — The Quakers' petition. — Letter to Earl Bathurst. — First debate on Slavery. — Mr. Canning's amendments. — Ameliorations in the slave's condition recommended to the colonists. — Letter to Sir James Mackintosh - - - 117—136

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

xi

CHAPTER IX.

1823—1826.

Excitement in the West Indies. — The Negroes refuse to work. — Severe measures. — Death of Smith, a Missionary. — The abolitionists bitterly reproached. — Mr. Buxton's plan. — Interviews with Canning. — Popular clamours. — The Government draws back. — Anxieties and doubts. — Letter from Mr. J. J. Gurney. — The debate. — The Government gives way. — Mr. Buxton attacks them. — Encouragements from Mr. Wilberforce. — Mr. Brougham's speech on Smith's case. — Its effect on the country. — Mr. Wilberforce retires. — The small number of abolitionists in Parliament. — Dr. Lushington. — Mr. Macaulay. — Mr. Buxton's policy. — Free people of colour. — Treatment of Mr. Shrewsbury. — Debate. — Deliberations. — The London petition. — Mr. Denman's motion. — A year's pause Pages 137—160

CHAPTER X.

1822—1826.

Cromer Hall. — Shooting. — A courteous poacher. — The sporting professor. — Mr. Buxton's delight in horses. — His influence over the young. — Maxims. — Letter to a nephew. — His love of a manly character. — His gentleness. — Shipwreck of a collier. — Perilous exploit. — His religious influence. — Kindness to the poor. — Letter on style. — Correspondence. — Martin's Act. — Letters on bravery, and on candour. — Letter to a clergyman on his new house - - - 161—181

CHAPTER XI.

1826, 1827.

The Mauritius Slave Trade. — Mr. Byam and General Hall. — Mr. Buxton studies and undertakes the question. — Touching incident. — Debate. — Committee of inquiry. — Stormy election at Weymouth. — Letters. — Laborious investigations. — Frightful attack of illness. — Unexpected recovery - - 182—194

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

xii

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER XII.

1827, 1828.

Meditations. — Mr. Simeon. — Letter to Lord W. Bentinck. — Suttee abolished. — Mr. Buxton settles at Northrepps. — Debate on Slavery. — Mr. Buxton's reply. — The free people of colour.
 — Interview with Mr. Huskisson. — Thoughts on his illness Pages 195—207

CHAPTER XIII.

1828, 1829.

The Hottentots. — Dr. Philip. — Van Riebeck's regrets. — Miseries of the Hottentots. — Dr. Philip's researches. — Mr. Buxton's motion. — The Government acquiesces. — Letter from Dr. Philip.
 The Order in Council sent out. — Letter to Mr. J. J. Gurney. —
 The Hottentots set free. — Alarms die away. — Happy results.
 — The Kat River settlement - - 208—219

CHAPTER XIV.

1829.

Catholic Emancipation. — Reflections. — The Mauritius Slave Trade. — Agreeable news. — The Mauritius case revived. — Letter to Mr. Twiss. — The Government admit the existence of the Slave Trade at Mauritius. — Its complete extinction. —
 Mr. George Stephen. — Mr. Jeremie - - 220—231

CHAPTER XV.

1829, 1830.

Letters. — Mitigation of the penal code. — Illness and death of his second son - - - - 232—241

CHAPTER XVI.

1830.

The public begins to arouse itself with regard to Slavery. — Increasing popularity of the subject. — Gradual change in the views of the leaders. — Mitigating measures despaired of. — Determination to put down Slavery thoroughly and at once. —
 Spirited meetings in London and Edinburgh. — The Government outstripped by the abolitionists. — Mr. Buxton's appeal to the electors. — The cruelty of Slavery in its mildest form 242—253

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet
Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

xiii

CHAPTER XVII.

1831.

Religious meditations. — The Duke's declaration. — Change of ministry. — The Whig Government does not take up the subject of Slavery. — Quakers' petition. — Decrease of the slave population. — Debate. — The Government still tries to lead the colonists to adopt mitigating measures. — Parliament dissolved. — Letter from Bellfield. — Letter to a son at college. — Party at the Brewery. — Anecdotes. — Reflections on shooting. — Death of Mr. North. — Correspondence - Pages 254—277

CHAPTER XVIII.

1832.

Insurrection in Jamaica. — Lords' committee. — Letters to Lord Suffield. — Speech at public meeting. — Position of parties. — State of the colonies. — Policy of the Government. — Debate, May 24. — Mr. Buxton insists on dividing the House. — Formation of the committee. — Religious persecutions in Jamaica. — Result of the committee. — Letters - - 278—300

CHAPTER XIX.

1833.

Government undertakes the Slavery question. — Lord Howick's resignation. — Anxieties. — Question of compensation. — Agitation in the country. — Delegates - - 301—318

CHAPTER XX.

1833.

Debate, May 14. — Mr. Stanley's speech. — Resolutions passed. — Blame attributed to Mr. Buxton. — Letters. — Bill brought in. — Debate on apprenticeship. — On compensation. — Progress of the Bill through the House of Commons. — Through the House of Lords. — Passed. — Letters - - 319—338

CHAPTER XXI.

1833, 1834.

Letters. — Good accounts from the West Indies. — Baron Rothschild. — Occupations of the Spring and Summer. — Endeavours for the benefit of the Negroes. — Mr. Trew. — The day of freedom, August 1. 1834. — Conduct of the Negroes. — Letters 339—358

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

xiv

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER XXII.

1834, 1835.

Inquiry into the treatment of Aboriginal tribes in British colonies.

— Address to the King on the subject. — Caffre war. — Aborigines' committee. — Letters. — Lord Glenelg's despatch. — Visit from a Caffre chief. — Mr. Buxton turns to the subject of the Slave Trade of foreign nations. — An address to the King agreed to - - - - - Pages 359—373

CHAPTER XXIII.

1835, 1836.

Accounts from West Indies. — Motion for committee of inquiry. —

Correspondence. — Writings, January, 1836. — Committee on apprenticeship, March, 1836. — Letters. — Letter from Mr. Johnston. — Irish church questions. — Speech on Irish Tithe Bill, June, 1836 - - - - - 374—393

CHAPTER XXIV.

1836.

Scotland. — Capercailzie. — Letters. — Habits of life at North-repps. — Order. — Love of poetry. — His domestic character. —

Letters - - - - - 394—414

CHAPTER XXV.

1837, 1838.

Aborigines' report. — Correspondence. — Election. — Defeat at Weymouth. — Letters. — Efforts to shorten the apprenticeship of the Negroes. — Mr. Buxton's hesitation. — The apprenticeship abolished - - - - - 415—428

CHAPTER XXVI.

1838.

New plan for the suppression of the Slave Trade. — Laborious investigations. — Collection of evidence. — Letter to Lord Melbourne. — Communications with the Government. — Abstract of his views. — Horrors of the trade. — Capabilities of Africa 429—440

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS.

xv

CHAPTER XXVII.

1838, 1839.

Communications with Government, and with private individuals.
 — African Civilization Society. — Preparation of “the Slave Trade, and its Remedy” for publication. — Departure for Italy
 Pages 441—453

CHAPTER XXVIII.

1839, 1840.

Journey through France and Italy. — Mont Cenis in a snow storm. — Rome. — Italian field sports. — Boar hunting. — Shooting on the Numician Lake. — Adventure with robbers.
 — The Jesuits. — St. Peter's and the Vatican. — Prisons and hospitals of Rome - - - - 454—482

CHAPTER XXIX.

1840.

Prisons at Civita Vecchia. — Italian banditti. — Gasparoni. — Illness. — Naples. — Pompeii. — Prospect of a war between Naples and England. — Excitement at Naples. — Mr. Buxton returns to England - - - - 483—513

CHAPTER XXX.

JUNE, 1840, TO APRIL, 1841.

Great public meeting in Exeter Hall. — Prince Albert in the chair.
 — Mr. Buxton created a Baronet. — Preparations for the Niger Expedition. — Agricultural Association. — Ventilation of the ships. — Sir Fowell Buxton's health begins to fail. — “The friend of Africa.” — Public meetings. — Letter to the Rev. J. W.
 Cunningham. — Day of Prayer for the Expedition. — Prince Albert's visit to the vessels. — The Expedition sails. — Letter to Captain Trotter - - - - 514—528

CHAPTER XXXI.

1841.

Correspondence. — Journey to Scotland. — Deer-stalking. — Return home. — The Niger Expedition, its successes and reverses.
 — Good news from the Expedition. — Account of its progress.

Cambridge University Press

978-1-108-02025-1 - Memoirs of Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton, Baronet

Thomas Fowell Buxton

Table of Contents

More information

xvi

CONTENTS.

—Scenery of the Niger. — Treaty concluded with Obi. — His intelligence and courage. — The Attah of Eggarah. — Sickness appears on board. — The Model Farm. — The Soudan and Wilberforce sent down the river. — The news reaches England. — Distress of Sir Fowell Buxton. — The Albert proceeds up the river. — Dense Population. — Agricultural produce in the markets. — Some slaves liberated. — The Nufis. — Increased sickness on board the Albert. — It returns to the sea. — Perilous descent of the river. — Mortality on board. — Death of Captain Bird Allen. — Opinions of the Commissioners as to the Expedition - - - - - Pages 529—551

CHAPTER XXXII.

1843, 1844.

Declining health. — Efforts and views regarding Africa. — The Model Farm broken up. — Letter from the Bishop of Calcutta. — Country pursuits. — Planting. — Characteristic anecdotes 552—570

CHAPTER XXXIII.

1843, 1844, 1845.

Continued and increasing illness. — Correspondence. — Religious feelings. — His last illness, and death. — Testimonials to his memory. — Observations on his character, by the Rev. J. W. Cunningham - - - - - 571—598

APPENDIX TO CHAP. XVII. - - - 599—603