

Contents

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Note on the Use of Capital Letters and Quotation Marks	xvii
Introduction	1
I. Rosenzweig's Rational Subjective System: An Overview	17
A. The Hypothetical Basis of Subjective Knowledge: The Generally Accepted Experience	17
B. The Positive Rational and Non-Natural Reach of Systematic Knowledge: From Metaphysical Indeterminacy to Preliminary Metaphysical Determinacy	21
C. The Immediate, Inexplicable, and Non-Relative Phenomenal Realm of Reason: Revelation and the Inferential Logical Criteria of Systematic Knowledge	29
D. The Positive Anticipation of the Ultimate Purpose of Systematic Knowledge: The Wholly Final Realm of Reason, or Redemption	34
E. Making Explicit the Long Logical Principle of Rational Knowledge, or Showing the Redemptive Reason as "Our" Reason: The Epistemological Achievement of Justification	38
II. Outline of Chapters	44
1. The Neglected Perspective: Rosenzweig and Kant	49
III. Rosenzweig's Consistency Thesis on Kant: The Threefold Nothing	50
A. Kant's Moderately Constitutive Theoretical Theology	60
B. Kant's Theory of Mind	65
C. The Centrality of Strong, Non-Natural Freedom in the Critical System	69

IV. The Series of Misconceptions of Kant: Hegel, Cohen, and Heidegger	74
A. The Post-Kantian Distortion of Kant: Hegel	74
B. The Neo-Kantian Simplification of Kant: Hermann Cohen	77
C. Heidegger's Phenomenological Simplification of Kant	82
2. The Neglected Alternative: From Noumenality to Primordiality	87
V. The Preliminary Study of Rosenzweig's Coherent Systematic Thought: From Indeterminate to Preliminary Determinate Metaphysics	87
A. The Wholly Primordial Beginning of Coherent Knowledge	88
1. The Hypothetical Nature of the Beginning of the Philosophical System	88
2. The Closed Rational Nature of the Systematic Beginning	92
3. The Pure Mathematical Determination of the Rational Beginning	101
B. Death as Wholly Primordial A Priori and the Positive Rational Mathematics	104
VI. Kant's Indeterminate Metaphysics of the "Thing in Itself" and Rosenzweig's Preliminary Determinate Metaphysics of the Metalogical World	110
A. The Critical Reception of Kant's Doctrine of the "Thing in Itself"	110
1. The Post-Kantian Reception of the "Thing in Itself"	110
2. The Doctrines of the "Thing in Itself" and Creation: Rosenzweig	114
B. Rosenzweig's Metalogic of the Wholly Primordial World	117
1. The Universal Possibility of the Logical Forms of Thought	117
2. The Pure Particular as Primordial Particular Birth	120
3. The Formal Logic of the Primordial Completion of the World, or Metalogic	122
VII. Kant's Indeterminate Metaphysics of Absolute Freedom and Rosenzweig's Preliminary Determinate Metaphysics of the Metaethical Self	129
A. The Critical Reception of the Kantian Noumenal Metaphysics of Freedom	129

1. The Post-Kantian Reception of Kant's Metaphysical Freedom: The 'Humanistic' Reduction	131
2. Rosenzweig's Reception of Kant's Transcendent Notions of Intelligible Character and Noumenal Will	136
B. The Metaethical Self as Wholly Primordial, Logically Finite, and Supramundane Psychological Origin	140
1. The Wholly Primordial Human Character	141
2. The Wholly Primordial Freedom of the Will	143
3. The Preliminary Metaphysical Determination of the Human Self, or Metaethics	146
3. The Immediate, Non-Objective, and Non-Relative Experiencing	149
VIII. Preliminary Overview of the Argument Exposed in Part II of the Star : The Thesis of Redemptive Compatibilism	149
IX. The Perfection of the Natural World of Things: The Absolute Phenomenal Category of Creation	158
A. The Perfection of Nature: The Positive Rational Philosophy of Phenomenal Creation as Broad Natural Science	159
1. The Theory of Inner Inversion Corresponding to the Phenomenal Rational Category of Creation: From Primordality to Absolute Empirical Reality	159
2. The Phenomenal Logic of Perfection: The Actual Whole of Natural Space and Time—Death and Its "Very Good" Stamp	165
B. The Strict, Non-Philosophical Theology of Phenomenal Creation: From Primordality to Absolute Phenomenal Reality	169
X. The Positive Metaphysical Reality of Soul: The Phenomenal Rational Category of Narrow Revelation	174
A. The Necessary Immortal "I," Supramundane Real in Primacy	174
1. The Theory of Inner Inversion Corresponding to the Absolute Phenomenal Category of Strict Revelation: From Primordality to Absolute Empirical Reality	175
2. The Positive Rational Category of Strict Revelation and the Metaphysical Reality of the Soul	179

3. The Supramundane and Potential Real “I” as Positive Rational Principle of Change—The Autobiographical Historical Time	185
B. The Strict, Non-Philosophical Theology of Revelation: The Positive Rational Principle of Divine Change—The Uniquely Personal God of the Bible	186
XI. The Thesis of Redemptive Compatibilism: The Phenomenal Rational Category of Redemption	189
A. The Thesis of Redemptive Compatibilism: The Reciprocal Interaction between Man and the World	189
1. The Theory of Inner Inversion Corresponding to the Phenomenal Rational Category of Redemption: From Primordiality to Absolute Empirical Reality	191
2. The Thesis of Redemptive Compatibilism—The Initial Systematic Principle of Relativity	198
3. The Positive Logical Concept of Humanity as Final Subjective Reason and Causality	205
4. The Positive Rational Psychological Ethics of Loving	211
4. The Positive Anticipation of Redemption	217
XII. Preliminary Remarks: The Redemptive Nature of Reason	217
XIII. The Illumination of the Wholly Final Realm of Reason, or of Redemption	221
A. The Wholly Final Form of Death, or the Redemptive Death: The Theological Philosophy of Redemption	221
B. The Wholly Final Form of the Truth, or the Redemptive Truth	222
C. The Strict, Non-Philosophical Theology of Redemption: The Self-Redeeming God	224
XIV. The Illumination of the Future Possibility of Immortal Life, or of Eternity	226
A. The Illumination of the Future Possibility of Death	226
B. The Future Immortality of Humanity	227
C. The Future Unlimited Possibility of Humanity: Messiah and the Freedom of Prayer	229
D. The Future Unconditional Possibility of Humanity: The Subjective Renewal	230
E. The Anti-Mysticism of the Star : The Rejection of the Mysticism of Dying	231

5. The Achievements of Renewal and Self-Examination	233
XV. Preliminary Overview: The Extended and Not Short Argument of Judaism—The New Philosophy of Religion	233
XVI. The Explicit Metaphysical Forming of Society and Religion: The Narrowed Chosen We	236
A. The Forms of Anticipated Eternity: Judaism and Christianity	236
B. Positive versus Negative Anticipation of Eternity: Judaism versus Christianity	238
C. The Epistemological Forming of A Religious Community: The Narrowed Chosen and Potential Real “We,” or the Jewish People	240
XVII. The Reconsideration of the Actual Real Soul: The Self-Examining Jewish “We”	248
A. The Actual Jewish Community of the We and Its Representation of Its Own Unified Time as Eternal Moment	249
1. The Eternal Tensing of Actual Present Time between Eternal Beginning and Eternal End: The Jewish Memory and Illumination	249
2. The Actual Jewish “We” and Its Representation of Its Own Unified Time as Eternal Moment: The Explicit Human Standpoint of Eternity, or the Jewish Standpoint	251
3. Eternity versus State. The Universal Objectivity of the Eternal Moment	253
B. The Explicit Rational Ethics of Trust, or the Jewish Ethics of Decision	254
1. The Epistemological Bewährung as Universal Objective Criterion of Decision: The Rational Principle of Verification in Ethics	254
2. The Modest Rational Decision-Plan: Objective Experiencing From and Within “I-Trust”—The Justification of Ethics	258
3. The Actual “We” and Its Overcoming of the State: The Uniqueness of the Jewish People—The Jew “In” and not “Of” the State	261

C. Judaism and the Wholly Momentary Religious Interest	267
1. The Jewish We and Its Phenomenal Real Prayer	267
2. The Modest Rational Perception-Plan: Objective Perceiving From and Within “I-Trust”—The Justification of Perception	270
XVIII. The Justification of the Long Systematic Claim of the Star : The Jewish Epistemology of Bewährung	273
A. The Subjective Verification and Confirmation of the Systematic Knowledge Claim of the Star , or Showing Redemptive Reason as An Explicit Human Reason	273
B. The Mediated Notion of Justification: The Subjective Conception of Dynamic Objectivity	278
C. The Eternal Embodiment of the Jewish People—Kant and Rosenzweig on Natural Community and Objective Simultaneity in Space	280
D. The Jewish Eternal History	287
XIX. God and His Own Justification: The Explicit Theological Principle of Change, or the Jewish Principle of Monotheism	291
Conclusion: The Redemptive Turning Point Rosenzweig	295
Bibliography	299
Index	313