

Radio Beckett

Musicality in the Radio Plays
of Samuel Beckett

Kevin Branigan

Peter Lang

Contents

Acknowledgements	9
Abbreviations	11
Introduction	Music and Silence in Beckett's Radio Plays 13
Chapter One	'Shivering Twigs and Murmuring Shadow': The Constraints of Realism in Radio Drama 39
Chapter Two	What Are We Listening For ? New Aesthetics in Beckett Radio 51
Chapter Three	'Dragging Feet': Beckett's Assimilation of Schubert's Music in All That Fall 83
Chapter Four	Black Holes, White Voices: The Impact of Silence in Radio Drama 109
Chapter Five	The Philosopher's Tone: Mauthner's Influence within Beckett's Radio Plays 129
Chapter Six	Speaking in Tongues: Glossolalia in the Radio Drama of Artaud and Beckett 165
Chapter Seven	Sounding Together in Radio I : Richard Rijnvos's Enrichment of an Impoverished Text 193
Chapter Eight	Ecstatic Response: The Creative Role of the Listener in Beckett's Words and Music and Cascando 215
Conclusion	Worlds beyond Words: Musical Emphasis in Beckett Radio 243
Bibliography	255
Index	265